London, Sept. 21.—The British Royal Air Force now is using a new type fighter equipped with four 20 MM. cannon, two on each wing, which give the craft a fire power range of 700 yards, the Daily Express said today. It is known as the Spitfire VC.

R. A. F. bombers remained inactive last night following heavy assaults during the early hours of Sunday against the city of Munich, the home of Naziism, and the Saar industrial area.

A force of giant four-engined planes estimated at 200 turned Munich into a blazing inferno within a period of a half hour. Flames visible for 100 miles leaped up all across the city. Huge conflagrations broke out in the industrial area of Munich which had not been bombed since November 1940.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Great Britain was cheered today by the disclosure of First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander that England's naval losses during the last 27 months in air craft carriers, battleships, cruisers and destroyers have been fully replaced in a huge shipbuilding task.

Alexander further revealed that England now has "hundreds of landing craft" which would play a vital part in an attempted invasion of Europe. He also reported that a fleet of Corvettes which have proven highly successful in convoy work and in countering enemy submarines, has been built by Canada.

Simultaneously, Alexander tempered his disclosures of the strength of the British fleet by telling his audience that the question of a second front should be answered only by those in authority who should be the judges of what should be done and at what time.

Ready For Service

The naval expert of the London Daily Herald, in discussing Alexander's speech, said it could now be assumed that Britain's newest 25,000-ton battleships—the Anson and the Howe—are ready to engage the CAIRO, Sept. 21.—With opposing ground forces confining their activities to patrol action, Allied bombers are keeping up their smashing raids against Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's supply ports. The important Libyan port of Tobruk again was attacked by Allied medium and heavy bombers in a heavy night raid. The Saturday night foray by the Allied planes left huge fires and three of the six blazes were visible for 30 miles.

Honor rolls of men in service are being dedicated and unfurled in many of the churches of the city and county. Most of these honor rolls already carry more names than were on the church honor rolls of the same kind for the first World War. More men are being called for service in this war than during the first World War.

It wasn't planned that way, of course, and it did cut the show short, but if the committee in charge of the bomb demonstration Saturday night in Taggart stadium had deliberately wanted to add grimness, suspense and the worst conditions possible they couldn't have done it any better.

Midway in the bomb demonstration, while high explosive bombs were splitting the air with the vehemence while incendiary bombs were lighting up the blacked out field and while auxiliary firemen were putting out the incendiaries, a terrific rain storm swept the field, thunder rolled and lightning forked the skies. It wasn't just a rain, it was a gully washer that nearly washed the spectators out of their seats. The crowd, over 2200 in all, counting the defense workers, could take only so much and regrettably they sought the shelter of the runway under the stadium.

Unusual Success

The storm stopped the show midway but nothing the committee could have done could impress the terrors of a bomb raid quite so forcefully as it was impressed Saturday night. It was a success, a success that won't be forgotten by the drenched crowd.

The evening opened quietly enough. Shortly after 8 o'clock the defense workers, nearly 700, paraded the field under the marshalship of Edward D. Pritchard. With him was Frank Sargent of the OCD.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
Special to the News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—There is considerable concern in official circles in Washington today over the misunderstanding which exists in Soviet Russia in respect to the opening of a second front in western Europe this year.

The question is: Will the Russian people be permitted to believe that the United States and Great Britain are determined to keep a promise to launch a major offensive against Germany in the west this year?

Soviet Russia's right to assume opening of a second front should be left with American and British military opinion as a matter of questionable. However, it is felt that in letters to the United States and Great Britain, their respective positions should be made perfectly clear to the Russian people.

Soviet Press Holds Up Facts

Any news stories do not seem to have been done. The Soviet press, for example, stands firmly with American and British military opinion as a matter of questionable. However, it is felt that in letters to the United States and Great Britain, their respective positions should be made perfectly clear to the Russian people.

responsible government officials make it perfectly clear to this writer at the time that the announcement did not mean a second front attempt in Europe this year was a certainty but merely that the United States and Britain agreed with Minister on the need for such a move if it could be done with any reasonable chance of success. This was reported by International News Service at the time.

Nevertheless, the Soviet press has told the Russian people to believe that after the announcement presented a definite commitment to launch the major invasion beginning in 1942. No effort seems to have been made by the Soviet government to have the press correct this impression. Thus, the Russian people continue to believe the United States and Britain are fully prepared to keep their promise.

Meanwhile, the unfavorable reaction of the DPs and the continued diplomatic circles in Washington that the British high command will be more reluctant than ever to attempt a major invasion of western Europe before next spring, however, this does not mean there is no longer any possibility of such an attempt being made this year.

Second Front Misunderstanding Seen

Concern Over Situation Now

Washington Officials Somewhat Anxious Over Russian Attitude

TIME OF ACTION IN CONTROVERSY

By KINGSBURY SMITH
C. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—There is considerable concern in official circles in Washington today over the misunderstanding which exists in Soviet Russia in respect to the opening of a second front in western Europe this year.

It is considered unfortunate that the Russian people should be permitted to believe that the United States and Great Britain are deliberately failing to keep a promise to launch a major land offensive against Germany in the west this year.

Soviet Russia's right to urge the opening of a second front, and to differ with American and British military opinion as to the advisability of such a move, is not questioned. However, it is felt that in fairness to the United States and Great Britain, then respective positions should be made perfectly clear to the Russian people.

Soviet Press Holds Up Facts

American officials do not feel this has been done. The Soviet press, for example, withheld from the Russian people a full account of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's report to the British parliament on his visit to Moscow. Furthermore, the Russian people have been led to believe that Great Britain and the United States, in the agreement which marked the visit to London and Washington of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, definitely promised to launch a major invasion of the European continent this year.

This was the interpretation placed by the Soviet press on the announcement by the British and American governments in June that they were in full agreement with Molotov on the need for creating a second front in 1942.

Misunderstanding
Whether Molotov himself placed this interpretation on the Anglo-American announcement is not known. If he did so, it undoubtedly was a misunderstanding because a responsible government official made it perfectly clear to this writer at the time that the announcement did not mean a second front attempt in Europe this year was a certainty but merely that the United States and Britain agreed with Molotov on the need for such a move if it could be done with any reasonable chance of success. This was reported by International News Service at the time.

Nevertheless, the Soviet press has led the Russian people to believe all along that the announcement represented a definite commitment to launch the major invasion attempt in 1942. No effort appears to have been made by the Soviet government to have the press correct this impression. Thus, the Russian people continue to believe the United States and Britain are failing to keep their promise.

Meanwhile, the unfavorable result of the Dieppe raid has convinced diplomatic circles in Washington that the British high command will be more reluctant than ever to attempt a major invasion of western Europe before next spring. However, this does not mean there is no longer any possibility of the attempt being made this year.

German battleship Tirpitz, also of 35,000 tons and last reported hiding in Norwegian waters.

This statement by the Herald's writer, apparently made on good authority, seemingly disposed of a rumor that the Tirpitz had left her hideaway and had been torpedoed in an effort to reach the open sea.

There was no substantiation for this report.

British strength in destroyers, the naval writer said, is now in the region of 200, including the 50 ships given to Britain by the United States. He said that there was not a single Corvette at sea when the war began, but that today the known number of these ships in the British navy was 200.

QUESTION OF LIABILITY

THE share-the-ride and pick-up-a-soldier programs have government endorsement and popular sanction, but both of them have thrown a wrench into certain existing laws.

The share-the-ride practice is one of the requirements often imposed on motorists seeking supplemental gasoline rations. Is a driver responsible for any accident that may befall members of a group splitting expenses? If so, how can the government expect him to risk his savings and perhaps his home to cooperate in gasoline conservation?

This question already has come up in an Ohio court. In that state a driver is not liable for injuries suffered by "guest" passengers unless he is wantonly and willfully negligent. The court is asked to decide whether splitting expenses puts the sharing riders in the paying passenger class. If it does, the plaintiffs in this action seem to have a case against the driver.

It is expected that the Office of Price Administration will file a brief urging the court to classify members of a ride-sharing group as guests rather than as paying passengers. But what about other states, in some of which even guest riders may bring suit against driver in case of accident? Moreover, in many states the appeal to give a lift to defense workers runs into laws prohibiting ride solicitation by hitch hikers.

The war has brought about a new set of conditions in regard to motor transportation. Old laws and new practices conflict. Yet these practices are urged by both Federal and state agencies. First of all, the question of liability for accidents suffered by members of a ride-sharing group must be answered, with assurance of adequate protection for a motorist who is patriotic enough to volunteer his own automobile for such purpose.

But the driver who in good faith picks up a worker or service man also should be given protection. He not only exposes himself to damage suits in case of accident but also runs the risk of getting a blow over the head by some thug posing as a helpless hitch-hiker.

Prompt steps should be taken to bring the statutes into conformity with practices recommended or actually imposed by government agencies. Patriotic cooperation should not carry with it excessive risks—and that is what ride-sharing and hitch-hiking do.

CANADA'S LOSSES AT DIEPPE

Since the large-scale commando raid at Dieppe there has persisted an uneasy feeling that this spectacular assault cost too much. This is turned into certainty by the frank statement of Canadian Defense Minister J. L. Ralston that, "for lessons learned and the advantages gained, the forces, and particularly the land forces, paid a very heavy price."

Heavy indeed! Mr. Ralston says that 5000 Canadian troops were used, forming the bulk of the attacking force. Canadian casualties totaled 3350 killed, wounded and missing.

The Canadian Minister explains that a chance encounter with an escorted Nazi tanker as the expedition crossed the Channel, gave the Nazis plenty of warning. A British commando unit was therefore prevented from destroying a battery six miles east of Dieppe. The Royal Regiment of Canada was twenty minutes late making its appointed beach landing, suffered heavy casualties, and only a temporary lodgment was obtained.

The only really important gains were that the possibility of transporting and landing tanks was demonstrated and the Allied air forces inflicted "a very serious strategic reverse" on the enemy. Some other gains there were, but they were unsubstantial.

Mr. Ralston and the Canadian government deserve the highest commendation for telling their people—and incidentally telling us—the unvarnished, bitter truth. We learn from this what we are really up against and it is the kind of knowledge the people of the United Nations need and are entitled to. We should have equal frankness from Washington.

DANGER IN THE FORESTS

George H. Wirt, chief of the Bureau of Protection of the States Forest and Waters Department, makes the practical suggestion today that Pennsylvanians "declare a voluntary blackout on outdoor fires during October and November."

Mr. Wirt has had a satisfactory summer. The state achieved a record of virtually no forest fires in that period. The last of any consequence happened early in the spring. Now, with an abundance of rainfall, the danger is minimized.

But Mr. Wirt is looking ahead. The time of greatest menace is the autumn when leaves fall and dry and spread a highly inflammable carpet through the woodlands. Then carelessness usually creates the annual infernos in the state's priceless forest reserves.

Mr. Wirt's appeal should be heeded. In time of war people get a new perspective on their national resources. Pennsylvanians must now be realizing that their forests have more value than beauty spots and playgrounds. They are of tangible importance to the war effort and therefore demand the utmost in protection.

Mr. Wirt's use of the word "blackout" in his appeal. He does not attempt to tie his forests to national defense, although a stretch of the imagination may create a connection. Flaming forests could, if Pennsylvania is ever the target for bombing planes, serve as beacons for the enemy.

Such beacons are established in Europe by RAF planes which drop incendiaries into the woods to start fires that signal the way for the bombers that follow. We should not carelessly create them here. All our efforts to blackout the state in a time of real emergency would be useless if our forests were afire.

It is said the Japs hate to lose face worse than anything, but from most of the Japs we have seen face losing wouldn't be such a calamity.

An Illinois town has donated its jail to the scrap iron campaign. We can't think of anything more appropriate than shooting the jail to the Japs.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

DAY DREAMS BY STUDENTS BAD HABIT

About the most wasteful habit of students, and often of the brightest ones, is that of daydreaming in the classroom and over lesson preparation. To daydream is not necessarily a lack of concentration, for daydreams can be well-organized and all-absorbing, so much so, indeed, that the day-dreamer may neither hear, see, nor respond to anything going on about him in the classroom.

At right times and in the right places, that form of concentration can be invaluable. Without it the world never would have had its great musicians, artists, architects, scientists, statesmen, and inventors.

Nevertheless, life is such that it is necessary for us to do many things with others and to pay attention, therefore, to things to which they pay attention. This is especially true in the classroom. The most effective student there concentrates well on what is being explained, directed or discussed, with the result that he does not have to do much studying, perhaps, outside of class.

A Wasteful Habit

But to sit in class and dream, with the attention a thousand miles away, is to cultivate wasteful habits, missing many of the most essential things that are being said and done at that moment. In consequence, the dreamer must employ extra time outside of class, getting what he might have got easily at class time.

Some students specialize in classroom daydreaming. One will dream while the teacher makes the assignment, thinking: "Oh, I can get it from Frank tonight." Night comes, and it requires considerable time. Another student may not even take the trouble to ask anybody about the assignment given while he dreamed, excusing himself from study in the evening on the grounds he doesn't know what is to be done.

Moreover, the classroom day-dreamer is disposed to be a day-dreamer, also over his books while at his homework. Such a one may find himself wanting when examinations come and may even become a complete failure.

Some Practical Suggestions

To students in high school and college, let me offer some suggestions:

1. Discipline yourself to pay strict attention to all assignments, explanations and discussions in class. The moment you find yourself wandering away, bring yourself back by the nape of the neck, as it were. Keep eternally at this, however much you must struggle with yourself. Don't let yourself be a parasite to depend on a classmate to give you the assignment.

NO USE

"Don't cry, George. Daddy will play Indian with you."

"But you won't do, daddy; you're scolded."

Let not thy right hand know what thy left hand doeth doesn't mean pattering a pretty baby with one hand and pinching an orphan with the other!

HO! HUM!

Lee: "Every time she smiles it reminds me of a Pullman car at eight o'clock in the evening."

Leslie (Howells): "Lee, I suppose you bore them to death."

Archie: "Oh, yes, I have quite a reputation as a lady killer."

Maud: "I suppose you bore them to death."

If only Washington would show that hardship instead of warning us so darned much.

There is talk of the government seizing all scrap iron. Sending a policeman around and demanding it would be the only sure way of getting it.

FARMER SOLOMON

In Missouri, where they raise more mules and children than in any other place in the world, a certain resident lived possessed of seventeen mules and three sons. In his will he disposed of the mules as follows: One-half to the eldest son, one-third to the next, and one-ninth to the youngest.

The administrator who went to divide the property drove a span of mules out to the farm, but when he went to divide the seventeen into halves, thirds and ninths he found it was impossible with live mules, mules not being very valuable, he unfastened one of his own, giving it with the other seventeen, making eighteen, when he proceeded to divide as follows: One-half, or nine, to the eldest, one-third, or six to the next, and one-ninth, or two to the youngest. Adding up nine, six, two he found that it made seventeen, so he hitched up his mule and went home rejoicing.

This is no time to be little! They are driving to slaughter our sons.

While our bravest and finest are waiting for us to supply them with guns.

For planes and for ships they are pleading, and dare we to say in reply.

That unless some small favor be granted we are willing that freedom shall die!

TABLE MANNERS

Many a girl loses her man because of her bad table manners. If she blows smoke or coughs across the table while others are eating or makes ugly grimaces while she chews, or talks with her mouth full, or makes awkward movements with her elbows or hands, she may be making a careful inventory of these vulgarisms.

At no other time during the early period of acquaintance or during courtship does it bear so long a period directly face her so closely as he does during a visit to a cafe or night club.

The most common table faults I notice—in addition to those already mentioned—among young moderns are: Gesticulating with the knife, fork, spoon while eating.

Holding them idly in the hand while an elbow rests on the table.

Resting upon the table the elbow of the arm being used for handling food.

Holding the spoon or fork otherwise than between the thumb and index finger.

Buttering and biting from whole slices of bread instead of breaking them apart.

Spreading food upon forks held bottom-side up.

Keeping the mouth open while chewing.

Smacking the lips while chewing.

Drinking from a bowl instead of the cup.

Drinking with the head so far back that the glass is raised further than horizontal.

Question: I have always been taught never to refuse a course when out to dinner. But what does one do when a meal is offered and everything from soup to nuts is served?

EASY WINNING

"I hear you've sold your pig?"

"Yes, old him last Thursday."

"What'd you get?"

"Eight dollars."

"What'd it cost ye to raise it?"

"Paid three dollars for the shot, and five more for the feed."

" Didn't make much, did ye?"

"No, but I had the company of the pig all summer."

Perhaps they do close their lips over a glass when drinking.

Others swallow air with saliva while chewing gum.

Flatulence means or air in the intestines.

Gas is usually nitrogen left over from swallowed air.

Overeating, anxiety or pain may bring on flatulence.

Treatment follows after first finding out the cause.

If you can make a horse thirsty it's not a hard matter to make him drink.

Our trouble is obvious. In the greatest crisis in our history, there is no voice that arouses enthusiasm.

The tobacco chewer is glad when the light colored clothes season over. The dry cleaner isn't so glad.

To see or not to see—to exert yourself to reach a thermometer, or sit and suffer and not know how not you are.

Plaque Dedicated At Highland Church

A beautiful service men's plaque, the gift of the Men's Brotherhood, was dedicated at the morning service Sunday in Highland United Presbyterian church.

Harold McCulloch presented the plaque which was accepted on behalf of the board of trustees and congregation by W. I. Clark. The dedication was preceded by a sermon, entitled "Should We Pray For Victory," by Dr. D. L. Ferguson, the church pastor.

A feature was a vocal solo, "The Publican," by Miss Julia Johns who is leaving soon for Curtis Institute at Philadelphia. The choir presented "America the Beautiful" following the dedicatory prayer, and the service closed with the singing of "America."

There are 27 men in active service on the list with six names to be added as they go into active service.

Two Involuntary Man-slaughter Cases Are Taken Up For Trial

September Term of Criminal Court opened today in the Lawrence County court house with a possibility that it would not last over Wednesday afternoon. Two cases, both charges of involuntary man-slaughter went to trial this morning and there is a possibility that these may constitute the term. Out of 130 cases originally listed, all but five had pleaded today and three of the five may yet enter pleas.

Before Judge W. Walter Braham, in court room one, Robert J. Mulcahy went to trial for the death of Charles A. Shepp on July 23, on Highland avenue near Norwood avenue. Mr. Shepp was killed when he was struck by a car Mulcahy was driving.

Before Judge John G. Lamoree in court room two, Howard Miller, of Ellwood City, went to trial for the death of nine-year-old Esther Donofrio, killed when the car driven by Miller hit her on West Grant street, May 15.

District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson is serving in court room number one and Attorney Mont L. Alley, former district attorney, is serving as assistant district attorney in number two.

Among those invited to the meetings are Mayor Charles B. Marney, members of city council, the chief of police, sheriff and district attorney, Mr. Shepp's widow, Mrs. Barbara Schulte.

Able chairman of the talent committee W. W. Campbell will again serve for the coming year in this capacity.

Inseparable Pals At Westminster Together In Army

Arrive Few Hours Apart At Air Force School At Miami Beach, Florida

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 21—Bill Meckling, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Phil Enterline of Kittanning, Pa., were inseparable pals here at Westminster college. Roommates for four years, Bill and Phil belonged to the same fraternity, both majored in business administration, both owned a half interest in the same battered jalopy, wore each other's clothes, doubledated together, and worked together in the same mill during vacations.

Last May both boys received their sheepskins and their ways separated—one going east and the other west to his own home.

This summer Bill was inducted into the Army from Indianapolis, and Phil was drafted from Kittanning.

Bill arrived at his station at the Air Force Technical school at Miami Beach, Fla., at four o'clock. At seven o'clock of the same day he met Phil, also in the Air Force Technical school and stationed at the next hotel down street.

What's What At A Glance

Nations, followed by what's followed the last one.

It isn't altogether an international election either.

Wartime necessarily involves a certain amount of internal near-dictatorship. It'll be up to the next congress or the next one afterward, or a still later one, to readjust things back to a 100 per cent Democratic basis.

It'll be awful if Capitol Hill, in the meantime, permits things to become dictatorially frozen.

Possibilities of a fourth presidential term aren't discussed very audibly, but there's quite a lot of whispering about em.

It's a merely matter of guesswork, for F. D. R. doesn't express himself on the subject. He can't very well do so under the circumstances. There's dope, though, to the effect that he doesn't WANT another term—that he's too good a Democrat to believe that it would be a desirability. Yet, if the war's still raging when 1944's nomination date rolls around, can he save himself from being voted in?

Major Denby will make the principal address. Lieutenant Colonel Marx, chief recruiting officer, Pittsburgh district will be in charge with Sergeant Bilpuch as an aide.

The band will play. Miss Long will sing and recruits will be sought at Kittanning the same day between the hours of 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. with the same speakers.

Warrant Officer Walters is the band director.

Cavalry Band To Aid Recruiting

Sergeant John T. Bilpuch of the local army recruiting station today announced that a recruiting drive in Butler and Kittanning will get under way this week.

He said the 104th Cavalry band would play between noon and one p.m. September 23 at the Butler county courthouse with Miss Alice from vocal.

Major Denby will make the principal address. Lieutenant Colonel Marx, chief recruiting officer, Pittsburgh district will be in charge with Sergeant Bilpuch as an aide.

Will that mean a verdict against F.D.?

Or will it mean the public's belief that F.D.'s okay, but that an incompetent congress (despite its Democratic label) has botched its job, in spite of him? Will it mean, in short, that the public's "FEE" him, regardless of congressional party lines—for him as a presidential individual? For a fourth term, if necessary—or for a fourth term?

Perhaps history'll provide answers to some of these questions in a couple of centuries or so.

But if the result is strongly Repubican?

TOTAL COST WHEN REPAYED IN SIX MONTHLY INSTALMENTS

No endorsers or guarantors needed... A quick, simple way to get a cash loan at reasonable cost

Do you need some extra cash? Would you like to pay off old bills as part of your wartime financial program? This advertisement tells about a simple plan which is helping many men and women with their present day money problems.

Suppose you pay $100 for an emergency or to pay off debts. You can get the money in a quick, simple transaction. Then you may repay on a regular monthly payment plan. At the end of a definite time you are entirely in the clear. The payment plan thus becomes a personal debt paying program.

The cost of this service is reasonable. Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly installments of $18.46 each, a total of $10.76. The cost of your loan is just $10.76. A $50 loan, repaid in six monthly installments of $8.33 each, a total of $5.38, costs only $5.38.

This service has been specially designed for folks with jobs. Many people have no car, furniture or other security on which to borrow. And they hate to ask friends to sign notes. Salary loans give these people an opportunity to borrow on earning ability and willingness to repay. When you get a salary loan you merely give us your personal note. We take no wage assignment of any kind. And no endorsers are required. We make many loans on other plans. The principal requirement is a job or other source of income. Even when making car and furniture loans, we consider character and regular income far more important than the actual value of your security.

Loans for many purposes

You may use a Household loan to pay a doctor or dentist bill, insurance, installment contracts, old store bills, car repairs, union fees, a training course, tools, moving expense, coal for winter—and for expenses of many other kinds.

You may repay your loan on almost any plan you wish. The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2 to 12 payments. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Look in the table now for the loan you need. See how you may repay out of monthly income.

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 3% per month on that part of a loan balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100.

This rate is less than the lawful maximum on loans of more than $100. Compare rates and costs before you borrow anywhere. Why pay more for your loan than you have to?

You can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone and tell us how much you need.

Attack On Jap Bases Widens

Two Pronged American And United Nations Aerial Campaign Seen

BASES ALONG WIDE FRONT ARE POUNDED

By JOSEPH A. BORS

U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A two-pronged American and United Nations aerial campaign of widening scope and intensity appears to be under way today in the southwest Pacific against Japanese invasion bases threatening both the southern Solomons and Port Moresby, New Guinea.

In the Australian area, bombers under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur have been pounding Japanese bases stretching from the vicinity of Port Moresby to Buka at the northern tip of the Solomons.

From the Guadalcanal area, army, navy and marine bombers under the command of Vice-Admiral Robert L. Ghormley have been stepping up their attacks on enemy installations and shipping northwest of the Tulagi area.

Attacks Increase

The increasing intensity of these aerial attacks which converge in a triangle from Australia and Guadalcanal to the upper reaches of the Solomons indicates that the United Nations leaders are determined to disrupt as much as possible Japanese preparations for a fresh drive into the southwest Pacific.

The United Nations air bases at Port Moresby and Guadalcanal obviously are the objects of recent Japanese moves in the Australian and Coral Sea war theaters.

With Japanese land forces approximately 32 miles from Port Moresby, it was apparent that American and United Nations airmen were bent on blasting Nipponese supplies and shipping in an effort to prevent substantial enemy reinforcements from reaching the southern half of New Guinea.

Recent attacks from the Guadalcanal area seemed to have the same object in mind—to prevent the Japanese from gathering large forces for another attempt to retake their lost Solomons bases.

Although Port Moresby has been in danger for the past week or more, the feeling prevailed here that forces under Gen. MacArthur aided by aircraft could hold off the Nipponese units threatening that base.

Likewise there was every indication that American marines still were holding their own in the Solomons despite recent renewed enemy activity.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—The removal of blight and coniferous timber as essential in protecting, were put into the track. Blister rust disease, says George H. Wren, chief of the division of protection in the Department of Forests and Waters.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine is co-operating with the department in the work, and Governor Richard P. Paschall has issued a general order of protection.

At the present time, the disease is spreading rapidly in the northern forested areas of the state. It has been found in 14,000 square miles of timber land, and the infection is spreading rapidly from one pine to another, and can only be checked by cutting down trees within 900 feet of a stand of white pine. However, it has been found advisable to conserve cultivated black currants within one-half mile.

Every effort is being made to safeguard the supply of white pine seedlings grown in the forest tree nurseries for reforestation purposes on both state-owned and private lands. The nursery sanitation program calls for an annual inspection of the nurseries animals and the maintenance of a minimum strip 1,500 feet wide around each field from which or to which no timber is taken.

The next step is to dig up the plants, roots included, and move them on uninfested trees where they grow and live. Sometimes several areas must be gone over two or three times before all the plants are removed.

The department co-operates with private owners in adapting them to proper methods of control.

Blister Rust Control Plan Is Presented

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—The removal of currant and gooseberry bushes is essential in protecting white pine from the deadly blister rust disease, says George H. Wirt, chief of the division of protection in the Department of Forests and Waters.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, bureau of entomology and plant quarantine is co-operating with the department in this work, and Forester Richard P. Patzinger is the blister rust control agent of the federal bureau.

Alternate stages of the disease occur on white pine trees and either currant or gooseberry bushes. Diseased bushes may infect other bushes, but the infection cannot pass directly from one pine to another and can only take place through these bushes within 900 feet of a stand of white pine. However, it has been found advisable to destroy cultivated black currants within one-half mile.

Every effort is being made to safeguard the supply of white pine seedlings grown in the forest tree nurseries for reforestation purposes on both state-owned and private lands. The nursery sanitation program calls for an annual inspection of the nurseries grounds and the maintenance of a surrounding strip 1,500 feet wide entirely freed from currant or gooseberry bushes.

The method used is to dig up the plants, roots included, and hang them on hardwood trees where they dry out and die. Sometimes certain areas must be gone over two or three times before all the plants are removed.

The department co-operates with private owners in advising them upon proper methods of control.

Westminster Opens Season With Win Over Edinboro 20-0

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 21.—Despite a powerful offensive attack, the Westminster Lions opened their home season Saturday afternoon with an impressive 20-0 triumph over the visiting Edinboro Red Raiders.

Putting up sustained drives of 60 and 80 yards, the Blue and White gridiron soared in every period but the second. Westminster gained 278 yards to 127 for Edinboro, and compiled 15 first downs to the visitors' eight.

McDaniels Starts Drive

A brilliant punt return of 44 yards from midfield by McDaniels, the star receiver, started the Lions on their first touchdown drive in the first quarter. Newcomer Schmid and McDaniels emerged as heroes of the day, and the team's plan to "decimate the front" was followed through when Newcomer planned and started from the 20. Newcomer scored for three extra points and started a first down. Captain Ted Ossert added a 7-yarder.

A 60-yard drive in nine plays started at the third quarter, Ossert and Schmid on an all-out, led to a 10-yarder. Edinboro poked up the end zone, however, to tie the game. ### Westminster Opens Season With Win Over Edinboro 20-0

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 21—Displaying a powerful offensive assault, the Westminster Titans opened their home season Saturday afternoon with an impressive 20-0 triumph over the visiting Edinboro Red Raiders.

Putting on sustained drives of 26, 60, and 80 yards, the Blue and White gridiron scored in every period but the second. Westminster gained 278 yards by rushing to 127 for Edinboro, and compiled 15 first downs to the losers' eight.

McDaniels Starts Drive

A brilliant punt return of 24 yards from midfield by McDaniels, a Titan newcomer, started the Titans on their first touchdown drive in the first quarter. Newton Scheid and McDaniels carried the ball to the 6-yard line before they lost the ball on downs. Shellenberger, 175-pound halfback, was the triple-threat star in the Teachers' lineup. His passes to Right End Griffen had the Titans baffled in the second period when they threatened.

A few penalties were dealt out to both sides. Over-anxiousness on the part of the new players cost the Titans five offside and backfield in motion penalties. The visitors were only guilty twice of being offside.

A steady drizzle in the last quarter slowed up the play of both sides.

Bears Extended To Defeat Stars

Eastern Stars Lose Last Game, 14-7; Raise Quarter Million Dollars

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

BOSTON, Sept. 21—They played—and lost—their last game of football, a sport they love, for the duration here yesterday but today, as they prepared to start a ten day furlough, the boys from all parts of the country who comprise the eastern army all-star team, were happy in the knowledge they and their western army colleagues had raised approximately a quarter of a million dollars for the army emergency relief funds.

This was revealed today by Ray McCarthy, co-ordinator of sports for the war department, who was among those who witnessed the army's first defeat in three starts at the hands of the Chicago Bears, 14 to 7, at Fenway Park yesterday.

The Bears were pleased to a standstill in the first three periods. Going into the fourth quarter the teams were deadlocked 7-7. Then Charlie O'Rourke, a former Boston College hero, started pitching strikes. Cary Famiglietti and Hugh Gallarneau, ex-Stanford star, began plowing into the line and the Bears drove straight downfield for a final period touchdown and the ball.

The field was muddy, the ball slippery and a crowd of 40,000 fans sensed the teams would battle to a scoreless tie.

Sparked by the drive of Norman Standifer and Capt. Johnny Pungel, the Army drove from its own 42 to the Bear's 18 before being stopped. They got another chance when they recovered a Chicago fumble in the second but again the Bears stiffened to take the oval on their 5.

The last half was filled with action. In the minute after the kick-off, Pungel gamboled on a pass from the shadow of his goal posts.

He got the ball away poorly and Gallarneau raced in, grabbed it on the 40 and sped over for a touchdown without having a hand laid on him.

Turn On Power

Stydamer kicked the point and it was 7-0 for Chicago. This woke the Army lads up and after Spadaccino intercepted a pass on his own 46, they turned on the current and came back to tie up the ball game.

A line plunge was good for 3 yards then Steve Bagarus got loose on a left end sweep, finally being spied on the Bears 30. Stydamer kicked to the 16 in a couple of tries, then Steve was off again for 11. With only two seconds left in the period, Stydamer cracked over for the tying touchdown. Nick Basca kicked the point.

Coach Halas obviously realized his champions of the pro league were in for a ball game and told O'Rourke to pull the power valve and let 'em rip in the final quarter. Charlie obliged by pitching a pass from his own 25 to Johnny Siegal who was flopped on the Army 40. Another to the same spot put the ball on the 21 and from there Famiglietti and Gallarneau slammed the line until the latter rammed it over the 3. Stydamer again split the uprights and it was 14-7.

ELLWOOD YOUTHS ENLIST SATURDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21—Ellwood City enlistees in the armed forces in Pittsburgh on Saturday were:

Howard E. Crepps, Army Air Force, and Gray W. Gordon and John A. Young, U. S. Navy.

It's unorthodox, but when Walter Laffer, 10-year-old Cleveland boy, became lonely for his pet dog, King, which he loaned to the Army for war duties, he wrote directly to Brig. Gen. Philip S. Gage, commander of New York's harbor defenses, to inquire about his pet. The general replied, "Please forgive me for not having written sooner, but this business of running Army posts keeps me fairly busy. As you can see from the attached picture, King is happy with his new Army responsibilities." The photo sent by the general is shown above.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—In a broadcast address today over the Brazeville radio in French Equatorial Africa,
the leader of Fighting France,
Gen. Charles de Gaulle, declared:
"Frenchmen, The moment has come to unite in a single effort around your national committee.
Follow its directives. We have one country and one duty—victory in the face of the enemy."

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Moscow radio, according to Reuters, today quoted a Yugoslav communists stating that Yugoslav guerrilla forces battling Axis troops had liberated a town and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Fierce fighting was said to be continuing at many points throughout Yugoslavia.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Soviet government has asked the United States definitely to sever diplomatic relations with the Finnish government. The London Daily Sketch said today on the basis of what it terms inside information.

Russia's desire will be transmitted officially to Wendell Willkie, who is in Moscow, the paper said, and will be voiced by Joseph Stalin himself.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Dispatches
from the official German news agency, D.N.B., admit that Nazi regiments have "withered" before Stalingrad.
The Evening Standard said today:

GEN. DOUGLAS Mac-
ARTHUR'S HEADQUAR-TERS. In Australia, Sept.
22. Destruction of a vital bridge on the mountain trail along which the Japs are at tempting to advance on Port Moresby, New Guinea, was announced in a communiqué
today.

Strong formations of Allied fighter planes which are strafing and bombarding the Jap-held trail in continuous attacks blasted the bridges over the Kumissi River below
Koror, a spokesman for Gen.
Douglas MacArthur reported.

Japs Rebuilt Structure

The bridge previously had been destroyed by Allied land forces when they withdrew from the Kokoda area southward toward Port Moresby but the Japs recently rebuilt the structure.

While one unit of planes swooped down to destroy the other Allied trails, swooping along the other Kokoda trail to reinforce the Japanese supply line leading to Port Moresby, 32 miles from Port Moresby.

Allied medium bombers meanwhile rained out over the Solomon Is-

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Spokesman of the Navy Frank Knox stated today that American forces in the southwest Pacific are operating on the assumption that the Japanese will soon start a "big push" in another attempt to east American forces from the Solomon Islands.

The statement was made by Knox at his weekly press conference when questioned about recent reports that the Japanese are preparing for a big drive in the Southwest Pacific area.

"That is a safe and sound assumption," the secretary replied.
"We operate on the basis to do otherwise would be foolish overcon-fidence."

Meanwhile lack of official news from the Solomons indicated that American forces in that area still are holding and redefining their positions in the strategic Guadalcanal-Tulagi area.

Recent Navy communiques stated that American forces in the Solomons

Smoke was curling from a lot of Gas News heard a lot about the early comeback of the horse and the comeback has been delayed eight persons were reported killed in the crash of an army plane driving an attempted take-off at a

M. airport.

Details of the crash could not be learned immediately but first reported that a bomb aboard the army plane exploded in the crash.

Among those reported killed was known how he was killed.

Army authorities began an imme-

Advocating that a policy of "firm took the position however that squares, but the Reds held on even gained ground in hand-to-hand fighting, the Russians announced.

In addition to plane reinforcements, the Nazis threw in a steady stream of infantry and tank replacements. The roar of the battle attained such a terrific din that the rattle of machine-guns and other small weapons was virtually inaudible. The earth trembled under the crash of the heavy calibre shells and bombs while clouds of smoke rolled across the devastated outskirts of the city.

Troops on both sides were said to be showing great fatigue, near exhaustion. There was no respite for them. The fighting was non-stop, 24 hours a day, with increasing ferocity. Night attacks and counter-attacks were lit by the wide glare of great fires.

Battling also was fierce in the Mozdok area in the mid-Caucasus where the Nazis are seeking to drive outwards toward the Grozny oil fields, the high command said.

Hughes Warns Against Raiding Highway Fund

By TONY ZECCA
(C. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 21. Disclosing that more than $300,000,000 will be needed for a post-war highway construction program in Pennsylvania, Secretary of Highways L. Lamont Hughes today warned against raiding the highway motor license fund.

Hughes disclosed that the American Association of Highway Officials estimated that $200,000,000 would be needed in Pennsylvania for minimum transportation requirements after the war. Minimum wartime requirements for strategic routes vital to the war effort would entail an additional $27,000,000 expenditure, the association asserted.

Those trying to find new ways of spending balances in the motor license fund will be piling up a tremendous obligation on our highway system," declared Hughes. "With the expected decrease in revenue he pointed out, the commonwealth may not be able to meet its future obligations under existing income from motor and gasoline taxes."

Hughes will be antagonized from both the construction and practical viewpoint after the war due to an expected traffic boom which will call for more and wider traffic lanes, increased sight distance, and many other improvements which cannot be undertaken now, he added.

The bulk of the highway department's revenue is provided from state gasoline taxes and motor license fees. During the 1941-42 fiscal year, the department received a record income of $91,000,000, including $8,000,000 in federal aid, said Hughes.

With a continued $91,000,000 yearly income, it was predicted that the $300,000,000 program could be accomplished in about eight years. This would allow for a minimum operating cost of $42,000,000 a year for the department.

The highway department's principal revenue may be slashed, however, as much as 50 per cent. By reductions in gasoline tax income and by a drop in motor license revenues due to the tire and gasoline shortages, it was asserted.

“Necessary improvements and modernization of the highway system are being postponed each year due to lack of revenue and priorities,” said Hughes. “This increases the backlog of work to be performed after the war due to the obsolescence and deterioration of existing facilities.”

He added that it was therefore necessary to keep resent and future balances, if any, in the motor license fund and specifically earmark them for post-war needs.

Paul W. Keely To Explain Recent Orders Of ODT In Operation Of Trucks

J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, today announced that Paul W. Keely, now associated with the Office of Defense Transportation, would be at the meeting tonight and explain the new orders of the ODT as it concerns motor trucks.

The necessity of securing war certificates from the ODT is important to every owner and operator of a truck and realizing that these must be secured before November 15, President Clarke prevailed upon Mr. Keely to attend the meeting and keep answer questions.

It is vital to every truck operator to know the rules of the ODT. One of the few opportunities to get an exhaustive presentation of them will be at the dinner meeting tonight which begins at 7 o'clock in The Castleton hotel, Vicksburg. Entertainment will be a feature of the program.

New Wilmington Soldier To Get Diploma From U. S. Army Music School

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 21.—Private First Class John E. Davis, Westminster college graduate with the class of 1941, will receive his diploma from the U. S. Army Music school, Ft. Myer, Va., next Saturday, and will be eligible for the rank of Warrant Officer band-leader.

Davis is one of 26 soldiers in the final class of 75 to finish the entire intensive course of study in one month, half the regular time.

Before entering the school Davis was stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., where he was a member of the band. He received the degree of bachelor of music education at Westminster, where he was a member of the college band and orchestra, and served as student band leader in his senior year. He was also a member of the a cappella choir and the college quartet.

Pvt. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis, of New Wilmington. Mr. Davis is professor of voice in the Westminster Conservatory of Music.

Garden Hints

Celery, which is growing rapidly now, should be kept well hillied up to start the bleaching process.

The strawberry bed should be put into shape now by replanting runners, to fill any vacant spots, and by thinning out to strong, individual crowns, other sections which are over-crowded.

Apple trees can be planted in late autumn after the trees have shed their leaves or in the early spring, the earlier the better.

Squashes should be gathered before danger of a killing frost. Don't waste the small, immature ones but save them to be used after the larger ones have been used. As a rule, their keeping quality is good.

Garden sanitation is always important but especially so now that dead foliage and other plant debris lies about the garden. Burning is a safe way to prevent wintering over of disease.

As frost kills okra, cut the plants before frost threatens, hang them up to allow the pods to dry for use in soups or flavoring.

Democratic Leaders Predict Defeat Of "Farm Bloc" Drive For Revision

WAGE CONTROL TO OCCASION BATTLE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Democratic leaders today predicted defeat of the "farm bloc" drive for major revision of anti-inflation legislation, as the Senate and House raced to determine which body will first meet President Roosevelt's demand for action.

A 16 to 16 wage control amendment, introduced yesterday, was voted down by a vote of 16 to 16. The amendment, which would have increased the maximum amount of heating down by 10 percent, was defeated.

The Senate bill, amendment to require that all farm laborers be included in minimum-wage laws, a move to 16 to 16, was defeated.

We cannot accept the "farm bloc" bill," said Sen. Francis B. McManam, in charge of the Senate bill. "We believe that it will be defeated."

Democratic Senate Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky likewise predicted rejection of the amendment. The Senate majority voted a compromise motion which the president had 16 to 16 to consider increased farm costs in establishing maximum prices for farm commodities.

House Opens Debate

The house opened debate on its own measure, which differs widely from the Senate bill, as the Senate entered its second day's consideration of the important legislation.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said he will insist that the house vote by tomorrow night, while Senate leaders also voted hope for passing of their bill by option.

The house was summoned into session on their motion for debate and debate was limited to one day and vote on the vital amendment and then passage scheduled for tomorrow.

The Senate has before it the wage amendment of Sen. Bell, R. Minn., prohibiting increases above the "little steel" formula. This wage decision allowed for a 15 percent increase in wages above the July 1, 1941 level. Bell denied that the amendment would drive demands for wage increases.

"We have had testimony that wages in those industries already are stabilized on this basis," he said. "It would provide for a strict drag-down."

The Steagall bill before the house also contained the "little steel" formula but as a floor instead of a ceiling. The house bill prohibits the president from denying wage increases above the "little steel" wage increase.

U. S. MAY ACT TO HALT FINNISH AID

Chairman of the Maritime Union, President Roosevelt requested to do battle against Finland.

On July 26th, the state department ordered all Finnish consular offices in the United States closed and warned Finland through diplomatic channels against continuing to permit the German Air Force to operate from its territory.

Warning Ignored

This warning appears to have been ignored. The Germans have continued to use Northern Finland as a base of aerial operations. Furthermore, United Nations supplies losses of the northern supply route to Russia are reported to be increasing daily. The Germans claimed this week end that Nazi planes and submarines sank 38 merchant ships out of a total of 48 in a six-day running battle along the northern route to Russia.

Finland's action in permitting the Germans to use its territory as a base of aerial operations against U.S. shipping is seen as constituting legal grounds for a declaration of war.

However, the American government has in the past been reluctant to declare war on any diplomatic relations with Finland. Because of this country's sympathy for the Finnish people.

From the standpoint of the men themselves one of the most important steps taken was that in which the Legion invited the young into its fold the millions of young Americans who will serve with its armed forces of the United States in the second World War.

In this connection the Legion resolved to petition congress to admit the Legion's charter so that veterans who served in World War 2 may be eligible to membership in the Legion.

If the Legion ever takes into its number but the millions of men who will fight this war it will become one of the most powerful and influential veterans' organizations in all history.

process of control and destruction of blisters is essential in protecting white pine from the cedar blaster tree disease, says George H. Winkler, chief of the division of protection in the Department of Forests and Wards.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine is co-operating with the department in this work, and Forester Richard P. Patterson is the head of a control agent of the division.

White pine blisters are the larvae
of a small insect, the cedar blaster.
The blisters bore into the tree to eat the interior, causing a cancerous tumor to develop which can only take place through these needles within 900 feet of a stand of white pine. However, it has been found advisable to extend extinction block currents within one-half mile.

Every effort is being made to select and the supply of white pine seedlings grown in the forest tree nurseries for reforestation purposes on both state-owned and private lands. The nursery selected program calls for an annual inspection of the nurseries grounds and the maintenance of a commandant over 1,500 feet wide extending from current or successive blisters.
The method used is to cut, on the point, trees infested and regeneration is encouraged where there are, on an acre, 100,000 seedlings.
Sometimes certain areas must be zone over two or three times before all the plants are removed.

The department co-operates with private owners in applying them upon proper methods of control.
